Welcome!

Thank you for coming to the 2026 Biennial conference on Chemical Education! As you know, BCCE is the largest gathering of its kind, bringing together chemistry educators, researchers, instructors, students and professionals from across the globe to share scholarship, teaching practices, and community-building around chemistry education. The work you do is important to the future of our education system, our workforce, and thus our country and the world. We are delighted that you chose the University of Wisconsin and Madison for your conference!

I hope each of you will find time to get outside and enjoy our lakes and our downtown. There is something for everyone to enjoy in downtown Madison! Whether you're a visitor or a regular, we're confident you will enjoy everything Madison has to offer, from our unique shops, museums, restaurants, and our beautiful State Capitol to the great UW Madison campus and beyond.

On behalf of all Madison residents, businesses, and organizations, please accept my warm welcome and invitation to experience all that Madison has to offer.

I hope you have a productive conference, and I hope you'll come back and visit Madison again soon.

Sincerely,
